WHY IS MISKAWAAN IV INFUSION THERAPY BETTER THAN ORAL MEDICATION?

Miskawaan Health Group Intravenous (IV) Infusion therapy is a safe and highly effective way to give your body the nutrients it needs, directly into your bloodstream. Mostly a painless procedure, a simple needle prick is all that is needed, and the IV can begin. Before getting into the benefits of IV therapy, let's first discuss the limitations or challenges of oral-based alternatives such as tablet or powder formulations.

THE CHALLENGES WITH ORAL MEDICINES

Although convenient, when medication or vitamins are taken orally, their potency is significantly reduced. Often, oral multivitamins are being marketed as a comprehensive nutrient boost. However, the ability to reliably know how much of the vitamin (or medication) is being delivered to the cells is lost due to the digestive processes, and the low absorption rates that result. This is different with each person, and so it becomes hard to know just how much of a medication or supplement is getting to where it needs to be. In short, digestion and absorption limit the oral dosage effectiveness. As a result, it is common that the required daily dosage of oral vitamins may not provide the required nutrients. But this will be dependent on the individual's metabolic processes. So, when a doctor wants to provide effective treatment quickly, and be sure the required dose is getting to where it is needed in the body, IV is the standard method.

MHG Infusion treatments are used for more than just helping clients with life threatening conditions to survive. MHG IV Therapies are a highly effective means of rebalancing the body by effectively distributing vitamins and nutrients quickly to where it is needed in the body.
